

MLA Peter Milobar named Opposition Critic for Labour

KAMLOOPS-NORTH THOMPSON (September 10, 2020) – BC Liberal Leader Andrew Wilkinson has named MLA Peter Milobar as the new Official Opposition Critic for Labour as the BC Liberals made changes to critic roles today. As the NDP government fails to help people and businesses bounce back from challenges of COVID-19, today's change from the Official Opposition focuses on holding John Horgan and his government to account in key areas.

“I'm eager to take on the new role as the Official Opposition Critic for Labour and work to push John Horgan and the NDP for firm actions to protect the well-being of businesses and workers,” said Milobar. “We will continue to ask the government to make decisions that get relief to businesses and promote safe, healthy and fair working conditions. I'll continue to advocate every day for the people here in Kamloops-North Thompson, on top of holding this government to account for their lack of action on providing businesses with the resources they need to help workers.”

The critic role changes announced today build on the 13 letters and over 60 policy suggestions introduced by the BC Liberals over the past several months to help B.C. combat the effects of COVID-19, and get the economy back on track.

“MLA Milobar has been a strong voice for many important issues here in B.C., and I can't wait to see him make the NDP government take real steps to support businesses and workers,” added BC Liberal Leader Andrew Wilkinson. “We have talked to thousands of British Columbians from all corners of the province to come up with solutions to help struggling families and businesses. Today's change reflects what we have heard and what needs to change. The NDP government has done a terrible job delivering their promises. We will continue to work hard every day and advocate for people from all of B.C.”
